

The research field Global Art History is a new one that is being defined by a number of academic institutions worldwide as a response to the challenge posed by global connectivity to existing disciplines. With a certain focus on architecture and the reception process of 'Asia', the purpose of the course is to give an introduction to the discipline of art history in general and to the most recent methodological approaches in particular: the epithet 'global' is understood here not as an expansive frame to include 'the world'; rather it draws on a transcultural perspective to question the taxonomies and values that have been built into the discipline of art history since its inception and have been taken as universal.

How to apply

Application deadline: Application is accepted by 17:00 of the day one week prior to the first class date in each course. It is treated as the class registration. If the number of applicants exceeds the quota, the number of participants will be limited. If there is permission from the instructor, students can audit the course without class registration, but in that case, the credits are not given.

Application procedure: Accepted only via emails. Applicants are requested to send an email titled "Application for Intensive Lecture" to apply@mail2.adm.kyoto-u.ac.jp.

In the email body, please write your student ID number, faculty/graduate school, grade, name and title of the course that you would like to register.

Class withdrawal: Class withdrawal is also accepted via email by 17:00 of the day one week prior to the first class date in each course. After the deadline, it is not accepted.

Note: 1. Graduating students taking these intensive courses should be aware that the score reports may not make the examination of graduation at each faculty. 2. Please check out the syllabus for more details of the courses.
